Success Attends G. S. C. W. Class Trip

Visited Historic Charleston and Magnolia Gardens

The class trip is history. After a wearing ride the students returned to G. S. C. W. in the early hours of Wednesday morning. The trip, both going and coming, consumed almost 48 hours, departure having been at 7 o'clock Monday morning.

In previous years the only classes having the privilege of enjoying the annual affair were the Senior and Sophomore classes. This trip marked the first time in the history of the college that the Juniors have had the opportunity of accompanying these other two classes. Juniors were honored by this special concession made them.

The trip this year was made to Charleston, South Carolina, a city noted for its historical background. Many points of interest to all were visited by the girls while there. Especially did everyone enjoy the scene of Magnolia Gardens, famous in all the United States for their unusual beauty.

Upon their arrival in Charleston, the girls were met and escorted to the Francis Marion Hotel, which was headquarters during the time (Continued on Page 8)

Juniors For Freshmen

On Saturday evening March 24, the first opportunity was given the Juniors to show their love and appreciation for the Freshman. The debate was more than an excellent-argument sister classes closer together than they have been since the school year began.

It has always been customary for Juniors to band with Freshmen and Seniors with Sophomores, on the campus of the Georgia State College for Women. This custom shall not be broken in 1928. There will be a more co-operative program between the classes this year than ever before. (Continued on Page 8)

Katherine Hemphill Elected "Y" Delegate

Each year representatives are chosen from the Y. W. C. A. members of the colleges, to attend the Blue Ridge Conference held from June until September. This year Miss Katherine Hemphill was elected from our campus to represent our college. Miss Hemphill's many friends congratulated her for receiving such an honor.

Week-end Trip Home Is Enjoyed

Early Saturday morning, the rising bell in every dormitory sounded. In great haste, suitcases and hatboxes were strapped and carried to the dormitory porches. Breakfast was served at seven o'clock, after which girls hastened to the central of Georgia railroad. At seven forty-five, the sound of the whistle made known the departure of the Beauty Special, laden with hundreds of girls.

Despite the rain, the holidays were enjoyed, and the entertainment was not limited to those who left the campus. The girls who remained were given a vacation and exceptional entertainment. The week-end was in every way delightful and one that shall long be remembered in the hearts of all who participated in its pleasures.

History Club Has Interesting Program

The History Club met Wednesday, March 14, in Dr. Johnson's classroom. After the business meeting, conducted by Helen Green, an interesting and clever program was given under the direction of Lucille Scroggins.

Endora McCrairie presided, and delighted the whole club by her unusually witty remarks. She introduced those on the program as members of the Republican and Democratic Parties. Thelma Johnson and Laura Lee Gibson spoke in behalf of the Republican party and Myrtle Godley and Katherine Harris gave forceful arguments for the Democratic party.

Juniors Begin Standardization of College Pin

For some years G. S. C. W. has had a standard college ring but not a standard pin. This year when time came for the Juniors to order their rings and pins, they decided to begin a move for the standardization of the pin, which has been used by the Seniors for the past two years.

At recent meetings of the Junior and Senior classes it was moved that the pin be made standard and the motion, in each case, received a unanimous vote.

A petition for standardization of the pin, signed by the officers of both classes, has been sent to the executive committee and it is strongly believed that the petition will in turn receive the signature of this committee. Then the further steps will be taken and from henceforth G. S. C. W. will have a standard pin.

N

New Honors of G. S. C. W.

Among other honors that have recently come to the college is the news that the Georgia State College for Women has been elected to membership in the association of American Colleges.

At the meeting of the association, in Atlantic City, G. S. C. W. was made a member because of her high standing in the Southern association of Teachers Colleges.

The purpose of the Association of American Colleges is the promotion of higher education, in all its forms, and the prosecution of such plans as may make more efficient the institutions included in its membership.

DR. DANIELS HONORED

Dr. Daniels was recently the recipient of a package of beautiful stationery, bearing the seal of the Academy of Doctors, of the university of Arizona. Dr. Daniels was its first president, and is now an adviser for the Academy, the purpose of which is primarily honorary.

Widow of First G. S. C. W. President Dead

Friends of Mrs. Etta Kincaid Chappell, widow of the first president of G. S. C. W., were grieved to learn of her death in Columbia, N. C., Monday. Her body was brought here to the Joseph A. Moore Funeral home, Tuesday, and the funeral was held from the St. Stephens Episcopal church of Milledgeville at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning. Her remains were placed beside those of her deceased husband, Dr. J. Harris Chappell.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. W. H. Harding, rector of St. Stephens Episcopal church. Members of the Nancy Hart chapter of D. A. R., of which Mrs. Chappell was first Regent, attended the services in a body. Representatives from the various classes of G. S. C. W. formed an honorary escort for the body. Many of the faculty and the friends of the Chappells when they lived in Milledgeville paid their respects to Mrs. Chappell, who was Miss Etta Kincaid before her marriage.

Mrs. Chappell, who was Miss Etta Kincaid before her marriage, came to Milledgeville as the bride of Dr. J. Harris Chappell. It was at this time that her husband assumed his duties as president of G. S. C. W., then known as the Georgia Normal and Industrial college. As a highly cultured woman, she became a leader in the social and educational life (Continued on Page 8)

It is Now Dr. Wynn

News has just been received on the campus that Mr. W. T. Wynn has been awarded the degree of Doctor of Literature, by Central University, of Indianapolis. The degree came as are cognition of the merits of "An English Grammar," recently brought out in mimeograph form, and now used in three of the leading colleges of the South; and as a result of the work done with the university by correspondence, during the past year.

Juniors, Freshmen, Sweep To Victory

Vote is Unanimous — 3-0.

Amid the enthusiastic encouragement of their class mates, the Junior and Freshman debating team won a victory over the Senior and Sophomore team last Saturday night.

The interclass debate is an annual affair, this year the subject being: "Resolved that the United States should cancel the late war debts to all foreign nations." The Senior - Sophomore team upheld the affirmative side, the Juniors and Freshmen taking the negative side. were Mae Evans and Louise Mapp;

The debaters for the affirmative were Mae Evans and Louise Mapp; for the negative, the speakers were Dorothy Thaxton and Gertrude Gilmore. The judges were Misses Mable T. Rogers, and Lorine Weaver, and Rev. F. W. Harding.

The affair was sponsored by the world fellowship department of the Y. W. C. A. Page Sessions, chairman of that department, was assisted by Katherine Brantly and Laura Lee Gibson.

Before the beginning of the debate, class songs were sung by all the classes. The cheer leaders for the respective sides were Shorty Godbee and Florence Rogers.

Y. W. C. A. Officers Are Elected

On Thursday and Friday nights at the mid-week Vesper Service, new officers for the Y. W. C. A. were elected. They are: Page Session, president; Margaret Lumpkin, undergraduate representative; Caroline Cheney, vice-president; Gladys McMichael, secretary; Dorothy Thaxton, treasurer.

The executives are Mary Raby, Cleo Jenkins, Laura Lee Gibson, Marie Tucker and Edna Allgood.

The cabinet is composed of Fannie McLellan, Polly Sigman, Dorcas Rucker, Doris Watkins, Katherine Jones, Irma Vaughn, Leo Jordan, Mildred Bunkley, Dorothy Jay, Louise Lowe, Louise Stanford, Rebecca Fowler, Mary Frances Cowan, and Dorothy Park.

Junior Spirit

The forces of rivalry and competition are instinctive. In international affairs one nation has no desire to fall below the standards set to make great nations. Various types of organizations are constantly striving to equal, if not surpass, each other. There is competition even between individuals, in order to obtain certain goals and to emphasize their best and most desirable qualities.

Friendly rivalry is beneficial; it does not allow one to slacken, but demands that he must be alert so that the standard may be obtained, and perhaps surpassed. It causes virtues to be dominant, and vices to fade into the background.

Since the different classes on the campus are publishing issues of the Colonnade, it is natural for each one to put forth its best efforts to make a success, and thereby, to show its true worth. Although this is a Junior edition, it is not meant to show the merits and good points of the Junior Class alone, but it is published with the purpose of presenting the highest principles and ideals of each of the other classes on the campus, and therefore reflecting the spirit of the college itself.

In our struggles to obtain goals, may our competitions not be of the selfish type, but may they be those that will bring out the best in each individual, each class, and finally may the greatest aim be to blend the best which each one gains into virtues which shall represent our college.

A NEW LIBRARY

There remains in our campus, deep-rooted in the hearts of us all, something of the spirit of him who taught us his motto, "Carry on." That we have not forgotten is made evident by the fact that we have sincerely tried to continue the great undertakings begun by Dr. Parks.

During the last three years there have been erected on our campus three modern classroom buildings, one large heating plant and a magnificent auditorium. Within the last year we have begun the construction of a hospital, and now a dormitory!

With all these improvements in mind, do we not see the great need of other things which can add even more to the greatness of G. S. C. W.?

It is agreed that more than anything else we need a new library—one that will rank with the library of any college in the South! We want a library that will equal the other fine buildings on our campus! A new library will be one more step to a greater and bigger G. S. C. W.

Alumnae of Senior Normal Class of 1927

Mary Jane Parker—President of the Senior Normal Class of '27 is completing work for an A. B. Degree at G. S. C. W.

Ruth Vaughan—Vice-President, is doing critic work in the Primary Department of a Normal School in Boone, North Carolina.

Miriam Furlow, Secretary, is teaching in Warrenton, Georgia.

Caroline Cheney, is doing critic work in the Physical Education Department at G. S. C. W.

Eleanor Mills, President of the Senior Normal Glee Club, is working in a bank in La Grange, Georgia.

Miss Beulah Floyd, Vice President of the Glee Club, is teaching in Porterdale, Georgia.

The English Senior Club is doing critic work in the English Department of the Peabody High School.

Flora Pickron who was one of the cheer-leaders of the Class of '27 is teaching in Jesup, Georgia.

Margaret Medlock who was a cheer-leader of the Class of '27 is teaching in Macon.

Mary Bobo is now Mrs. Harry Jamper of Rome.

Armelia Bordenaux is teaching in Miss Leabau's School for Girls Gainesville, Florida.

Interesting Facts About Our New Hospital

The architect, Mr. J. R. McEachern, was chosen because for twenty years he worked with Dr. Parks in planning the other buildings on the campus.

2. The building is made of hollow tile and red brick, with cast stone trimmings which render it practically fireproof and sound proof.

3. The floors are made of terrazzo tile, of black and white Georgia marble.

Across the front portico are four Corinthian columns, which lend resemblance to the other buildings.

5. A beautiful Memorial tablet, now being made by Gordon and company, New York, will be placed in the vestibule.

A radio is another interesting addition to the hospital. Barphones will be placed in every room.

hope I made an A in that course.
I guess that question will pull me down to B.

That third one was a humdinger, I believe I made a C.
I guess I made a "C".
The last two were catch questions—gosh!

I wonder if I made a D.
Oh, if I just get a pass, I'll be the happiest freak in college.

Dean Webber Writes to a Junior

March 27, 1928.

To a Junior:

As you look back from the three mile post of your college career, let the past experiences be lessons from which you might gain information for your guidance, inspiration and a spirit of hope to carry on.

Perhaps nothing better expresses the thought in my mind than Florence Holbrook's "A Prayer".
Not more of light, I ask, O God,
But eyes to see what is;
Not sweeter songs, but power to hear,

The present melodies.
Not greater strength, but how to use
The power that I possess;
Not more of love, but skill to turn
A frown into a caress.

Not more of joy, but power to feel
Its kindling presence near;
To give to others all I have
Of courage and of cheer.

Give me all fears to dominate
All holy joys to know;
To be the friend I wish to be,
To speak the truth I know.

If you can put this philosophy into practice, your happiness and success is assured.

With best wishes for you, I am
Cordially yours,
GEORGE HARRIS WEBBER,
Dean of Students

Reminiscence

The poet has sung of coming to the end of the day and "sitting alone with one's thoughts," but as a group of girls in our reading room we prefer to defy the teachings of the poet and to get together, to comment on the events of the day, and to contribute our part toward a social hour which always proves enjoyable to all.

The most pleasant feature of dormitory life is this hour after the evening meal when we gather around the piano in the brightly lighted reading room. This takes the place of our family circle and is anticipated, enjoyed and remembered because it is the only time during the day when we are all free to enjoy ourselves.

Effection of style. The program is usually of an involuntary nature where the more active furnish the entertainment. Sometimes the program is of an exquisite nature and he orchestra, consisting of unique dormitory instruments, renders a harmonious musical program of which Sousa, himself would be proud. At other times we enjoy a mock lyricism or chapel exercise where familiar characters are impersonated.

It is hard to determine what is going on in the different minds at this time. Some allow their fancies to wander and amuse the crowd by telling of their impossible imaginings. Others are busy planning various pranks which they may play on their innocent friends, while those of a more serious nature sit calmly reflecting.

Meanwhile the "specials" arrive and some of us rush madly off to examine the contents of a box. Here we find a choice stock of home-made goodies which someone's mother has prepared—donuts, chicken, red apples.

This short hour, spent so pleasantly, is one which to us has a significant meaning, a meaning which is hard to define. It seems to be treasured as is no other hour of the day.

And then, as the town clock ticks on majestically towards seven thirty, the separation bell rings and the very happy social gatherings brought to an end.

Spring Hath Sprung!

The birds were twittering; the Sol was beaming down on the world; the first golden daffodils were being swayed by the gentle Zephyrs.

Languidly girls strolled about and in class the eyes dreamily wandered out the windows. All of which made us think Spring must be on the way.

Then it was that the matron of Terrell Hall announced that her maid, Marianna Narcissus Christine, and the Head Cook in the Big Kitchen, whom we may call George Washington Abraham Lincoln for short, had on an evening last week, said the fatal "do" or "I will," whatever those famous last words are, which tie the matrimonial knot. Immediately and with one accord we exclaimed: "Spring Hath Come!"

A Student's Dictionary

Seniors—Objects which think they are twice as important as they are. Juniors—Aspirants to the ranks of dignity.

Sophomores—The source of "sass." Freshmen—A five hundred strong band of little girls whose uniforms don't fit.

Money—Something extinct. Nourishment—Sandwich and Dope. Ignorance—Inheritance of Freshmen.

Corinthian—That which inspires Literary Genius. Chapel—Place to meet roommate with your mail.

Postman—Bearer of checks from home, bringer of joy and sorrow. Bell—Signal for termination of fifty minute nap.

Faculty—The cause of our misery. Homesickness—A strong desire (accompanied by weeping usually) to get to your hometown and see if your rival is "beating your time."

Headache—A time-worn excuse for unprepared lessons. Second Week in March—Sometimes a Spring turlough.

Class Trip—First cousin to an excursion. Excess—Forbidden fruit except on Athly.

Sophomores

Sophomores! Yes—that age of Sophistication! That age of wisdom! Oh, the glory of "Sophomoredom!"

"What life is sweeter," they ask, "than that of a Sophomore? what more to be envied?"

Envy? why not. Have they not just emerged from the fetters of innocent Freshmanhood into that envied rank of sophisticated Sophomores?

Again, they ask, "Do these Sophomores easily forget that only a few months previous, they too belonged to the Freshman Group, that they too were known as the 'Greensies'?"

Indeed, they do not forget! Too well do they recollect the tricks and pranks that were played upon them by the upper classmen, and in turn, try them upon the new Fresh.

They insist that hats must be worn to Lyceum numbers. They urge that these Freshmen tickets to study hall must be bought before they are sold out. They demand that the "innocents" secure tickets for the bath tub at the rate of ten cents per bath.

—And when Thanksgiving rolls around, they frighten the Freshmen by informing them that they must dress the turkeys! Sometimes they are kind enough to suggest that eyebrow tweezers are the very thing for getting off the teachers.

To be mistaken for a Freshman. This, indeed, the greatest insult that can be wrought against a Sophomore.

And so, they live in a world of their own, enjoying the luxuries and privileges that are bestowed upon their ranks, carrying that sophisticated, nonchalant air that all acclimated sophomores must have.

"Enjoy those distinctions and privileges that are yours, O Sophomores," we Juniors challenge you, "but, wait until you ascend into the glories of Juniorhood."

From Our Exchange

"Engaged to four girls at once? How do you explain such conduct?" "I don't know. Cupid must have shot me with a machine gun."

"I think the man you married is a fine looking fellow."

"Ah, but you should have seen the one that got away."

He was boring her to tears when he came her dog. "Ah," he exclaimed, "have you taught him any more new tricks since I was here last?"

"Yes," she said sweetly, "if you whistle, he will bring your hat."

She: "My little brother was awfully sore at you when you were calling on me last night."

He: "Why? I didn't do anything."

She: "That's just the trouble; he waited at the keyhole for nothing all evening."

Father: "Son what does this 60 on your report mean?"

Son: "I don't know, unless it's the temperature of the room."

"William," said she, severely, "how many more times are you going to ask me to marry you?"

"Clara," said he, "I can't answer that question but I don't think I'll bother you much longer. One of the other three girls I'm proposing to shows sign of weakening."

Agony

I wake to look upon her face,
Silent and white and cold.
Oh! Friend, the agony I felt
Can never half be told.

We'd lived together for a year;
Too soon, it seemed to see,
Those gentle hands outstretched and still

That toiled so much for me.
My waking thoughts have been of one

Who now to sleep has dropped.
Twas hard to realize my friend
My dollar watch had stopped.

When the scuffers scuff, and the mockers mock,

And the knockers stand at the side and knock,

Just roll up your sleeves and buckle in,

And stick to your task, and you're sure to hear

The doubters doubt and the jeerers jeer;

But never a victor has risen yet

But somewhere the jibes of the wise has met.

So deaf to the scoffers, just work along;

And stick to your dream till you know it's wrong.

And toss them a smile when you hear folks mock.

For it's a healthy sign when the knockers knock.

The Fate of Annie

The scene is set; Annie is to be executed. The executioners are gathered around the desk, with their implements of torture. Annie herself is very calm. She is unaware of her impending fate, but still she looks with distrust at the crowd gathered around her, so merry and happy, yet having such fierce looking instruments at hand. With much laughter on the part of the torturers, Annie is killed.

Ah! Now, what next? Will the torture end here or what will become of Annie?

After much discussion and careful deliberation it is decided that Annie shall not be forgotten. Therefore her body is dissected. Her eyes her voice box, her toe-nails, her fur neck piece, her brain, and even her heart as well as other internal organs stand as a memorial, in the Agriculture Laboratory, to one who so gallantly gave up her life to the cause of curiosity on the part of her merciless executioners.

Later in the afternoon a group of Biology 11 students enjoyed very delectable chicken salad, and they express their willingness to execute Job Turkey himself at a later date.

ADVICE TO THE SENIORS ON HOW TO COMFORT THEMSELVES WHEN INTERVIEWING SUPERINTENDENTS

In the spring a Senior's fancy seriously turns to thoughts of a job—or position, whichever she may call it. So it is with mingled joy and fear that she receives the summons to appear in Mr. Thaxton's room for an interview with the visiting superintendent and board of some nearby town. Of course she's afraid—who wouldn't be?—and yet so deep in the heart of each is the certainty that if she can only look and act her best and meet them in the right manner, the superintendent and board will be smitten with her charms and impressed with her qualifications and come exploring her to accept the position they offer at a salary unheard of except in the wildest dreams.

For such Seniors there are a few simple rules to follow if they meet with the long desired success.

For those who feel their courage failing, their knees shaking and their teeth chattering, there are a few more things to be done. Even if you don't already have these symptoms, try fear the worst; it would be wise to be before it's too late. The best remedy of shabby courage and shifty nerves, is cheating gam. Not only does it help your feelings but it adds perceptibly to your looks and will inevitably attract the attention of the superintendent so that you will never run the risk of being overlooked.

Another way of impressing your presence upon the superintendent's consciousness and at the same time stanching your nerves is to bring forth your compact, reddish those already ruby lips, add a new blush to those rosy cheeks, and dust a bit of powder over your nose. If all this fails try a little conversation with your neighbor in a tone loud enough to be heard by the visitors. This offers untold opportunities of impressing them with your wide range of knowledge and experience, for you may discuss any number of topics care to ramper, all which the superintendent may overhear and think you very wise.

If after trying all these methods you still have no position, try no longer to impress superintendents and board members who can appreciate real effort and seek some other field for your talents where there is a greater field for development.

Jessie (G. S. C. W.) Column

The girl who sits next to me in English has told me why some of the girls wanted to go home instead of on the class trip. "This is spring," she said, "you know the direction of a young man's fancy in the spring time; and let me tell you, few girls miss the opportunities of leap year!"

The Sophomore Normal Club.

The Sophomore Normal group is composed of the students who complete the two-year Normal requirements and receive their Diplomas in June. This is the largest group on the campus, having about twenty-five percent of the studentbody and about sixty percent of those who graduate each year. This club was organized with the following officers: President, Catherine Allen; Vice-President, Edith Manning; Secretary, Louise Mapp; Treasurer, Ruth Smith. The club meets on the second Tuesday of the month for a business meeting and program. Some very interesting programs have been given, among which was the Ellen H. Richards program and the Vegetable Wedding. The club has sponsored the selling of refreshments on the campus every Thursday afternoon. The proceeds from these sales help to add more money to the Practice House Fund for which the club and Household Science Department are working. Membership is open to any student or member of the faculty who is interested in Home Economics.

Interest In Glee Clubs

Today there are four glee clubs on our campus, whereas there has been only one in former years. Around these clubs, there centers greater interest than ever before. All the glee clubs were recently made members of the Georgia Federation of Music Clubs.

Several programs have been given during the year, one of the best of which was the Christmas pageant, presented in December under the direction of Misses Tucker and Goodson.

The leader and presidents of the respective clubs are as follows: Senior—Mrs. Long, Gladys Logan. Junior—Mrs. Longino, Florence Rogers. Sophomore—Miss Tucker, Mary Elliott. Freshman—Miss Tucker, Virginia McAllister.

Mathematics Club.

During the year of 1923-24 there was organized on our campus a club which has since borne the name of Mathematics club. The first president of the club was Miss Goodson, who is now Mr. Y. W. C. A. secretary. Then there were only about twelve members. Today we have twenty-eight students on our campus who are majoring or minoring in mathematics and all of these are active members of the club. Miss Alice Napier is advisor.

The object of the club is four-fold: First, to stimulate an interest in mathematics among the students of the college; Second, to broaden our knowledge of the field of mathematics; Third, to help develop the mathematics department of the college; and Fourth, to promote social activity among mathematics students of the college. "Be Square," the motto of the club, is held as a goal for every member and is helping promote the growth of the club.

ALUMNAE ASSOCIATION MEETS

At a recent meeting of the Alumnae Association of the college, plans for the Association's part in commencement exercises were completed. It has been decided that the Parks Memorial Hospital will be given in an appropriate service, in June. Miss Mary B. Brooks is president of the Alumnae Association.

Greensboro Club.

When the fifteen Greensboro girls of G. S. C. W. found themselves scattered from Ennis to Terrell, they organized themselves into a club so as to keep in touch with each other and the home-town news. Thursday afternoon is their regular meeting day, and this is the time they plan their parties and hikes.

This club is one of the most congenial groups on the campus.

The officers are:
President—Lila Boswell.
Vice-President—Elise Stanley.
Sec.-Treas.—Elizabeth Torbert.
Reporter—Beatrice Mullins.

French Club Is Active.

The French club was organized in the fall of 1926. It was intended to give those students interested in French an opportunity to supplement their class instruction by practical conversation in playing French games, etc. The club elected a president, vice-president, secretary, and chairman of the entertainment committee. All business is transacted in French. The singing of French songs is another feature included in nearly every program.

A Christmas celebration was held shortly before the holidays. Gifts were distributed and refreshments were served. Miss Helen Anclair, the secretary, gave a short talk on Christmas in France.

The officers of the club are Eleanor Rannis, president; Marion Laine, vice-president; Katherine Brandley has been chosen chairman of the entertainment committee.

When Dr. Webber put up the question of going home, my roommate grew strangely thoughtful. Although she already had shik hair cut, the all-important question became "To Bob or not to Bob?"

Literary Guild Forms Plans for Remainder of Year.

The Literary Guild which has been one of the outstanding clubs on the campus this year, because of the furthering of literary activities and interest on the part of the members, has made interesting plans for the meetings which are to come.

A project recently decided upon by the guild provides for the addition of the latest fiction to the guild library. This library will be conducted along the rent basis in order to provide for further additions. The members of the guild have been meeting once a month in two groups, those studying contemporary literature and those studying drama. The contemporary literature group has recently been working on Galsworthy's works; the drama group has been interested in Booth Tarkington.

The History Club.

The History club was founded by Dr. Amanda Johnson in 1925, with the view of having together in a social way all students of the college sufficiently interested in history to major or minor in the subject. The project has proved popular, and now the club membership numbers approximately fifty. The members are all sympathetic in interests, and programs always afford great pleasure by having them designed to entertain people of specified tastes.

This semester's plan of programs is particularly effective. The subject before the club is a comparative study of the Democratic and Republican parties, and the study takes a humorous turn in the programs, affording amusement with enlightenment. The first business meeting was held in the form of a campaign for membership in a non-partisan township by Republican and Democratic stump speakers who lustily propounded their party principles and political platforms. At the end of their speeches the "citizens" were requested to become either democratic or republican, the result being a majority for the democrats. At the next meeting, delegates chosen by the recently partitioned community will take part in national nominating conventions, every man taking the floor for his candidate. Party nominees for the Presidency will be chosen by these conventions, both Democratic and Republican. The last club meeting of the year will be a small edition of a nation wide Presidential election with energetic electioneering and all possible political problems; and the club will have the opportunity of choosing the country's President.

In this plan there are myriad possibilities of genuinely good times and incidentally much information on party politics, political figures and issues, and parliamentary practice in general. A capable program committee is in charge, and this year's History club history promises to be as illustrious as in other seasons.

The College Orchestra

The College Orchestra is composed of eighteen members under the direction of Miss Beatrice Horshorouh. The officers are as follows: President, Anghy Oliver; Vice-President, Lucila Coffee; Secretary and Treasurer, Bess White; Librarian, Emily Campbell.

The members of the orchestra and the student body welcome Miss Christine Cotner, who is a great addition to the orchestra, and who so willingly contributes to the entertainments on the campus and in town.

The orchestra is planning to take a large part on the program during music week. It will also furnish music between acts in the play, "Stop Thief," which will be given in April. Plans have not been definitely made for a social but the members of the orchestra are looking forward to a party soon.

The Tennis Club Planning Tournament

Although everybody is busy with studies, many girls have found time to play Tennis, these last few weeks. The courts are occupied at all hours of the day, and many girls found this exercise a help for spring fever, which, by the way, is quite contagious.

Much interest is being shown in the results of the Tennis tournament which was begun in the fall. The officers of the Tennis club are making plans for the Spring tournament, and the winner of each of these tournaments will play on field day, competing for the cup and points for their respective classes.

Those who are in charge of the Tennis club and its activities are: Anne Bryant, Marie Smith, Virginia Arnold, and Caroline Cheney.

The Butts County Club.

Various have been the purposes in the organizing of clubs—some good times, some for study, and others for companionship. The Butts county club was organized during the fall of 1927 and immediately set for its purpose for its first year trifold goal—meritment, more knowledge, and closer fellowship in playing, learning and working together.

Only the girls from Butts county and its county seat, Jackson, are eligible for membership. The officers of the club are: President, Ruth Smith; Vice-President, Susanah Foster; Secretary, Jane Ethelridge; Treasurer, Myra Fletcher. Members of the Butts county club have had many interesting meetings and many good times together this year and their wish is that the club will live and continue to be a bond of fellowship between the girls coming from Butts county to G. S. C. W.

The Atlanta Club Oldest of Its Kind on Campus

The Atlanta club was the first of its kind to be organized at G. S. C. W., and we expect it to live as long as any of the others.

When the DeKalk and Fulton county girls are at G. S. C. W., they may—and probably do—belong to the Atlanta club. When they finish here and return to the Gate City they automatically become members of the well known G. S. C. W. club there. It's great to be an Atlantan! We as members of the Atlanta club wish to extend our congratulations to our sister clubs, and we hope that you will find your organization as successful and as happy as ours.

Science Club.

The Science Club is a comparative young club, this year being its third. It was organized Oct. 27, 1925 with Martha Story as the first president. The active membership includes Seniors, Juniors, and Sophomores majoring or minoring in Science. Any regular member of the faculty interested in science may become an associate member.

The Science club has a three-fold object; namely, to stimulate an interest in science among the students of the college; to broaden our knowledge of science as applied to everyday life; and to promote social activity among science students of the college.

The present officers of the club are: Harie Hancock, president; Irma Vaughn, vice-president; Dorothy Parks, secretary and treasurer. There are three committees. The chairman are: Dorothy Thaxton, social; Elizabeth Gulon, program; and Mary Smith, publicity.

The club meets on first and third Tuesdays in each month. One meeting is for transacting business after which interesting and instructive programs are rendered. There are talks on recent inventions, interesting scientific plays, and magicians performances.

Socials are given each month. At these the intellect is tested by working scientific plays, and nothing synthetic about the refreshments!

English Sophomores Meet

One of the most delightful meetings of the English Sophomore club was held March 13 in Ennis Recreation Hall. The business meeting was conducted by the President, Doris Watkins.

The club enjoyed very much the reading given by Miss Katherine Scott; she read "The Beautiful Superstition."

The Columbus Club

The purpose of the Columbus Club is not only social and educational, but it serves as a link between the city and the girls away at college. And its purpose has not failed!

Although the first meeting was not crowded, the Columbus folks felt duty-bound to attend the first party, and it was perhaps the social and a feeling of oneness in the club. Especially are the girls interested in the Centennial to be held in the home city in April.

The officers are Catherine Allen, president; Dorothy Colquitt, vice-president; Ruth Whitman, Secretary; Frances Adams, Treasurer; Catherine Edwards, corresponding secretary.

Miss Scott Honors Bible Study Class

One of the most outstanding social events of the past week was the party Miss Katherine Scott gave for her Bible Study Class, on Monday afternoon from four to six o'clock. The main feature of entertainment was a fashion show which revealed the styles of dress from 1860 to the present day. As these interesting fashions were shown songs representing each period were sung. The following girls took part: Mary Lee Anderson, Pauline Sigman, Merrill, and Eugenia Scroggin.

The costumes used were once worn by the immediate relatives of Miss Scott.

After the fashion show delicious refreshments were served.

Those present were: Misses Mary Lee Anderson, Gladys McMichael, Marguerite Johnson, Harlowe Thompson, Mary Jane Parker, Carolyn Wheeler, Doodle Christie, Margaret Lumpkin, Mary Elliott, Mardelle Osborne, Eugenia Scroggin, Elizabeth Rape, Mary Raby, Frankie Colquitt, Irma Vaughan, Beatrice Howard, and Christ Perryman. Virginia Griggs, Mrs. Scott, Mildred Merrill, Anghy Oliver, and Elizabeth Jennings.

Birthday Feast Given For Gwen Brooks

March 13 a delicious feast was given as a surprise feast for Gwen Brooks, who was celebrating her birthday. Mrs. Brooks had sent the materials to Mardelle Osborne, suggesting that they be used in a party for Gwen.

The guests assembled in Mardelle Osborne's room, where the table was most attractively decorated, a lighted birthday cake forming the central decoration, and the dainty place-cards giving the dates of Gwen's birth and the present year.

On her entrance, the honor guest was presented with a great many gifts; perhaps the one she appreciated most was the violoncello her mother had sent as well as the check which said "Come home."

Besides the hostess and the honor guest, those present were members of the Polix Club: Sally Bryant, Jennie Evelyn West, Mary Battle, Bertha Johnston, Camilla Hutchinson, Catherine Case, Fanny Walker, Mildred Merrill, Eugenia Scroggin, Elizabeth Rape, Anghy Oliver, Flora Sims, Spencer Darden, and Mary Bohannon.

Miss Jackson's Class Has Party

On March 16th at 5:30 the Ever ready Bible Study Class, taught by Marguerite Jackson, entertained with a St. Patrick's Day party in Ennis Recreation Hall. The place was decorated for the occasion and the color scheme of green was carried out in the decorations and refreshments. Peppy music was played while each member and her guest assembled, and then every one joined in a St. Patrick Contest. A prize was offered for the highest score. The cake—of soap was won by Dorothy Colquitt. Those enjoying the affair were: Mildred Burt, Sussie Blanton, Anys Beckham, Fleeta Benton, Dorothy Colquitt, Christine Dekle, Rebecca Fowler, Kathleen Harlow, Martha Harris, Marguerite Jackson, Nellie Kelly, Ruth Lowe, Louise Lowe, Addie Parker, Lucille Scroggin, Harlowe Thompson and Mary Wood.

One of the town girls met a professor on the campus, and this was his greeting: "You were not at class yesterday, were you? Were you detained because of the inclemency of the weather?"

"No, sir, it was raining," was the reply.

Those enjoying Mr. and Mrs. Vaughn's hospitality were: Misses Irma Vaughn, Catherine Allen, Julia Reese, Louise Baker, Mildred O'Neil, Annie Sara Brooks, and Frances Cotton.

Mrs. Steven Schussler, of Macon spent last week-end with her daughter, Elizabeth.

Miss Margaret Scarborough, of Macon, spent last week-end with Florence Rogers and Edna Wise.

Mrs. Osborne, of Marietta, was the week-end guest of her daughter, Mardelle.

Miss Annie Ruth Ray, graduate of 27, visited Katherine Har recently.

Miss Corinne Tucker and Alpha Lee Brown, of Garfield, spent the week-end with Marie Tucker.

Mrs. Julia Reese of Eatonton, spent the past week-end with her daughter, Julia.

Miss Sara Howard of Washington, was the guest of Beatrice Howard, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Vaughn of Cartersville, spent the week-end with Irma Vaughn.

Dorothy Roberts and Gladys Logan spent Monday in Macon with Miss Mary Brooks.

Miss Ruth Pritchett, of Macon, was the recent guest of her sister, Louise Pritchett.

Miss Virginia McMichael, who touches in Griffin, and Mr. R. L. McMichael Jr., spent the week-end with Gladys.

Rook Party Is Enjoyed

One of the most delightful parties on the campus recently was the one with which Mrs. Ireland's Bible Study Class entertained, Monday, in Atkinson Study Hall.

The decorations, talleys, and favors, carried out the color scheme, green and white. Baskets of green and white anils and place cards were attractively designed to represent the symbols of St. Patrick's Day.

During the afternoon, progressive Rook was played. Prize for high score was awarded Sue Grubbs; and consolation prize was won by Mary Balkom. Delicious sandwiches and punch were served.

One of the most interesting features of the entertainment was the "Lycium from Ireland," in which Edna Burke and Inez Jones gave a varied musical program, which brought many encores to the talented "Irish."

The guest list included Elise de Jarnette, Sara Harp, Rebecca Fowler, Helen Bolen, Frances Lynch, Sue Grubbs, Marguerite Gilbert, Oma McCall, Austelle Adams, Erlene Shade, Martha Arnall, Edna Burke, Inez Jones, Edith Ivey, and Mrs. Ireland.

Mrs. Reese Has Waffle Breakfast

One of the most delightful features of the Spring Holidays was a waffle breakfast given Sunday morning by Mrs. Julia S. Reese in honor of her daughter, Julia.

Besides the hostess and honor guest those present were: Misses Beatrice Howard, Irma Vaughan, Catherine Allen, Agnes Davis, Frances Morgan, Mildred O'Neil, Louise Baker, Annie Sara Brooks, and Frances Cotton.

Visitors Give Buffet Supper

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Vaughn of Cartersville, Ga., entertained Sunday night at a lovely Buffet Supper in Ennis Recreation Hall.

Those enjoying Mr. and Mrs. Vaughn's hospitality were: Misses Irma Vaughn, Catherine Allen, Julia Reese, Louise Baker, Mildred O'Neil, Annie Sara Brooks, Frances Willard Morgan, Agnes Davis, Frances Cotton, Beatrice Howard and Mrs. Julia S. Reese of Eatonton.

Mrs. Steven Schussler, of Macon spent last week-end with her daughter, Elizabeth.

Faculty Has Vacation

Since there were no classes this past weekend, several members of the faculty took advantage of the time for short trips out of town. Those who went home were: Miss Sara Bigham, Coopers; Miss Lorine Teaver, Gabbettville; Miss Rosabel Darch, of Augusta, who was accompanied by Miss Polly Moss. The members of the faculty who went to Macon were: Dr. Johnson, Miss Rogers, Miss Miller, Miss Bolton, Miss Tabb, Miss Brooks, Miss Thaxton, Mr. Thaxton, Miss Jenkins, Mr. Wynn, Miss Scott, Mrs. Kiser, Mrs. Christian, and Mrs. Key. Miss Barron spent the weekend in Monticello, and Miss Steele visited her mother in Atlanta.

CAMP WILKINS

What? Joint Y. M. and Y. W. Conference.

Where? Camp Wilkins, Athens, Georgia. When? March 30th to April 1.

Who may go? These people who are interested in Y. W. C. A. on our campus and who want the inspiration Fellowship, and leadership which the program for conference offers. Among other things there will be forums and talks on The Philosophy and International aspects of Associations.

It is hoped that from this conference students of Georgia will receive power to carry on very effective programs on their campuses the coming year.

Dean Scott Back After Illness

The faculty and student body are indeed glad to welcome back Dean E. H. Scott who has recovered from a recent illness. Dean Scott returned March 2 from a meeting of the American Association of Teachers Colleges in Boston, and since that time has been ill at the city hospital. We are delighted to have him back.

Colonade To Sponsor Play

The play "Stop Thief!" is to be given in the Auditorium of G. S. C. W., the second week in April. This play is being sponsored by the Colonade.

The cast is as follows:

Madge Carr, "The Bride"; Marguerite Clark; Mrs. Carr, Mother, Vivian McLendon; Joan Carr, Josephine Proctor; Caroline Carr, Idolene Cobby; Nell, the maid, Mildred George; William Carr, the father, Lucile Scoggin; James Clancy, the bridegroom, Marguerite Jackson; Mr. Jamison, Julia Reese; Dr. Willoughby, Cleo Jenkins; Rev. Mr. Spelain, Monah Whitley; Jack Doogan, thief, Mary J. Parker; Sergeant of Police, Mary Elliott; Police Officer Clancy, Josephine Williams; Police Officer Casey, Edith Ivey; Police Officer O'Malley, Agnes Poole; Police Officer O'Brien, Kathryn Allen; Chauffeur, Mildred O'Neil; Director, Dr. Johnson; Stage manager, Lucile Scoggin.

Minor characters will be announced later.

The Stone Mountain Memorial Association has asked for a strong guard to be placed around the engravings that are being made in the mountain in order to keep prowlers from destroying work that is being done.

Play Given at Vespers

A play, "The Color Line" was given at Vesper services, March 18. The story of this presentation was that of a Chinese boy whose father had disowned him, when he became a Christian. Through the teaching of his friends in America, the boy was inspired to return to China, with a message of the friendship that exists between the two nations.

Those taking part in the play were, Laura Lee Gibson, Kathleen Rice, Inez Jones, Sara Jones, Polly Sigman, and Sallie Hall.

College Receives Poetry Book

The college is fortunate in receiving a copy of "Just a Verse a Day," by D. G. Bickers. The book was sent to Miss Florence Barnett, who in turn will give it to the library.

Mr. Bickers is editor of the Savannah Morning News, and is a regular writer for the Macon Telegraph. In which he has a column of poetry. He is post-laureate of the Georgia Press Association, and visited G. S. C. W. last summer, when the newspaper editors came here.

Mercer Glee Club To Sing Here April 7

With a program which gives an insight into the spirit of the youth in the American colleges of today and at the same time brings back tender memories of the Old South as it was before the days of the Civil War, the Mercer Glee and Instrumental Club will give their performance in the G. S. C. W. chapel the afternoon of April 7.

The club recently returned from a tour of South Georgia and North Florida where the Mercer organization was received enthusiastically and acclaimed as one of the best college glee clubs in the South. At the Florida State College for Women in Tallahassee, a large audience of the college girls saw the performance and every number offered on the program received many encores.

About thirty-five men compose the organization and the entertainment offered by these young men varies from the light exchanges of black-face comedians to the singing of popular chorus and solo numbers by well trained voices.

Revival Held at Methodist Church

An unusually successful and interesting revival meeting was held at the Methodist Church March 11th to the 21st. Services were conducted by the local pastor, Rev. J. P. Yarbrough with the aid of an inspiring singer, Mr. Homer Jenkins. On Monday night the Seniors attended; Tuesday night the Juniors; Wednesday the ophomores; Thursday, the Freshman. All girls who attended reported he constructive influence of the pastor's addresses.

Coming Attractions

A series of very delightful entertainments has been planned for the coming month. Below are listed some of them.

March 21, Douglas Fairbanks will star in the picture centering around the well-known character, Robin Hood.

The Mercer Glee Club will return for its annual program, April 7.

Ben Hur, one of the greatest pictures ever filmed, a tale of the Christ will be shown April 5.

De Jen and Company will present the Magician, April 13. The Magician is always one of the most popular features of our Lyceum Course.

April 14, the famous war picture, The Big Parade, will be shown in the college auditorium.

The Beloved Rogue, in which John Barrymore plays the leading role, will be presented April 28.

In addition to these special attractions, a number of news reels and comedies have been planned.

Catherine Allen Is Hostess.

Miss Catherine Allen entertained with a feast Saturday night in honor of her visitor Miss Louise Baker of Agnes Scott College.

The idea of St. Patrick's day was used in the color scheme and favors and a delicious salad course was served to the following guests:

Mrs. Julia S. Reese, Eatonton, Ga. Misses Julia Reese, Agnes Davis, Frances Cotton, Annie Brooks, Frances Morgan, Mildred O'Neil, Beatrice Howard and Irma Vaughan.

there. The entire afternoon Monday was assigned to the girls as their leisure time to view Charleston as they desired, or to visit a theatre. The class banquet was held in the banquet hall at eight o'clock Monday evening.

Automobiles were ready to take everyone to Magnolia Gardens, Tuesday morning. On the return from the gardens, a stop was made at St. Andrew's Church. A sight seeing trip around the Battery and through the narrow streets of Charleston finished the morning's activities until the luncheon at the Hotel.

Fort Moultrie was visited in the afternoon. A government boat transported the group from Charleston to these two forts. At Fort Moultrie a review by the soldiers stationed there was witnessed. Before leaving this fort, soldiers served all girls an army dinner in real army style.

When all returned to Charleston, a homeward bound train took the crowd back to Georgia and G. S. C. W.

Many thanks are due those who made it possible for so many students to have the happiness that the trip to Charleston caused.

The guild as a whole, meeting once a month, is planning to present at the April meeting a one-act play by Sir James Barrie, entitled, "The Twelve-Pound Look." The participants in this play will be selected from the most talented members of the guild, and the assurance comes from the directors that the play will prove most interesting.

The May meeting will take the form of an outdoor picnic, according to custom. An interesting play will be arranged in addition to the social activities.

The officers of the guild are: President, Catherine Brantley; Secretary and Treasurer, Carolyn Wheeler; chairman of social committee, Dorothy Park; chairman of contemporary Literature Group, Caroline Cheney; and chairman of Dramatic Group, Mary Jane Parker.

of the city. At the organization of the Nancy Hart chapter of D. A. R., she became the first Regent. After her husband's death, she went elsewhere to live but made many visits to friends here later.

She is survived by two daughters, Miss Loretta Chappell of Detroit and Miss Cornelia Chappell of Columbia, N. C.

Among those who attended the funeral was Mr. Lucius Chappell of Columbus, Georgia, who spoke to the G. S. C. W. girls at chapel, Tuesday.

Miss Rogers Has Luncheon

Miss Mahel Rogers entertained the Science Sophomores, Saturday, March 17, at school lunch. The luncheon was carried out in a unique style, the idea of St. Patrick's Day predominating. Those present were Preacilla Forbes, Mary Smith, Sara Vance Ross, Blanche Green, and Irma Vaughn.
